On behalf of the Japan Fluid Power System Society (JFPS), we are pleased to announce the 11th JFPS International Symposium on Fluid Power, Hakodate 2020. The first symposium was held at Tokyo Institute of Technology in 1989. Since then, every three years, the JFPS International Symposium on Fluid Power has been held. The next symposium will be held in Hakodate-city, Hokkaido during October 13 to 16, 2020. The symposium will be addressing recent developments in fluid power technologies including oil-hydraulics, pneumatics, water hydraulics and functional fluids, and will include presentations on basic researches, applications and case studies. State-of-the-art exhibitions of fluid power systems and components will place special emphasis on industrial applications and their engineering backgrounds. Organized oral and poster sessions will be provided a valuable forum of exchanging ideas and opinions on current and newly developing technologies for researchers and engineers from all over the world. In this symposium, the Best Paper Awards and Young Talent Student's Paper Awards for the best papers and presentations for a high potential will be instituted for the presenters. Hakodate, the venue of the symposium, is Hokkaido's third largest city and a traditional harbor city. Hakodate has experienced notable influence from overseas. Hakodate is best known for the spectacular views to be enjoyed from Mount Hakodate and delicious, fresh seafood. We look forward to seeing you in Hakodate in 2020.
